

THE PHILADELPHIA INQUIRER, WEDNESDAY-MORNING, AUGUST 12, 1931

Page 13

NEWS OF THE WORLD TOLD IN PICTURES

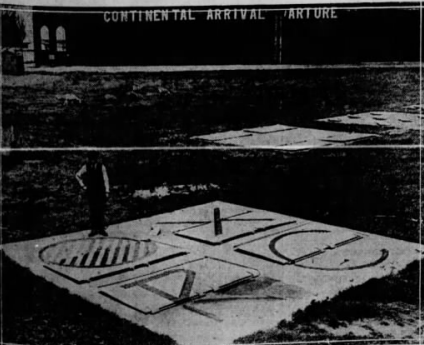

LOGAN RESIDENTS PROTEST FLOOD DANGERS

Forty-second Ward citizens, whose homes and business places were flooded by the heavy rain Monday night, visited City Hall yesterday to demand relief from the conditions that menace their section whenever there is a heavy storm. Mayor Mackey, President of Council Edwin R. Cox and John H. Nesson, Chief of the Bureau of Engineering and Surveys, pledged their efforts to remedy the situation. They will confer with other city officials to find out what funds are available to construct additional sewers. The Wingochock sewer is insufficient to carry off flood waters of the Logan section. The conference was held in the Mayor's reception room and the speakers blamed City Council for existing conditions.

RETAINS PHILADELPHIA OPEN GOLF CROWN

The chap in the middle of the above group is Clarence W. Hackney, of Atlantic City, who retained his Philadelphia Open golf title yesterday when he led a big field over the course of the Manufacturers' Country Club at Orland, Pa., in the thirty-six holes play for the title. Hackney scored 147 to maintain his hold on the title. The golfer on the left is Morris Tilmann, of Whitesboro, who finished with 156, while the club swinger on right is Joe Turney, of New York, who turned in a 152 card.

FLIERS INFORMED OF WEATHER CONDITIONS

The ground signals shown in this picture are in use at English aerodrome on the London-Paris route to advise airmen of the weather they will face. That at the top means rain or drizzle; top right, snow, hail or sleet; bottom left, thunder storms or squalls; and at bottom right, gales.

PAIR WILL MARRY SATURDAY

Philip Young, son of Owen D. Young, Chairman of the Board of the General Electric Company and prominent as an international financier, will marry Miss Faith Adams, Saturday, in New York City. Parents of Miss Adams made announcement yesterday of details of the wedding.

DELEGATES HONOR FRANKLIN

Building and loan delegates placed a wreath on the Franklin statue yesterday at Weighman Hall, U. of P. They are, left to right: Professor Thomas A. Budd, U. of P.; Charles O.C. Hennessey, New York; Ernest H. Hale, Boston; M. Hobbs Myers, Los Angeles; William E. Best, Pittsburgh; H. Morton Bodfish, Chicago; Professor Howard T. Howde, U. of P.

POPULARITY WINNER

Miss. Franziska Gial led 800 contestants at Budapest, Hungary, for popularity honors. She won by a margin of 17,000 votes. The contest was conducted by six newspapers.

DIVING SCHOOL

Naval men learn use of the safety "lung" in the tower at New London, Conn. They enter the water-filled tower at its base and rise 135 feet to the top. The Momsen "lung" is similar to a gas mask.

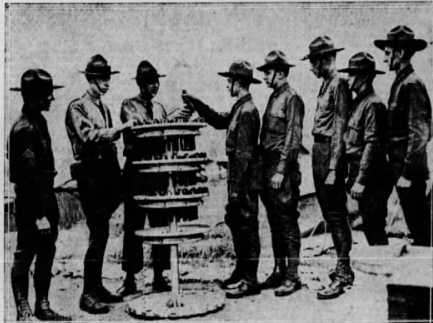

WIN SUBURBAN BEAUTY HONORS

This fair quartette claimed first places in the eyes of the judges last night at Woodside Park and will represent the suburban districts at the final beauty contest at the park. Left to right: Rita Bateman, 17, of 3944 Abrieden road, Sunnyside Hills; Edna Fallon, 16, of 837 Montgomery avenue, Netherth; Florence D. Hendricks, 16, of 141 W. Marshall street, Norristown; and Betty McGready, 17, of Norristown.

AMERICA'S UNBEATEN HORSE

Vanderpool, robust son of Campfire and Bramble Rose, has won fifteen victories in a row, equaling the mark of the famous horse Colin. Kelsey is shown beside Mrs. M. P. Allen's horse, which has not been beaten in his entire turf career.

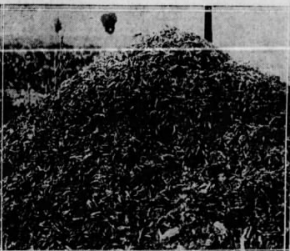

RECEIVE PISTOLS

Headquarters battery soldiers of the 10th Field Artillery prepare for small arms practice at Tobyhanna.

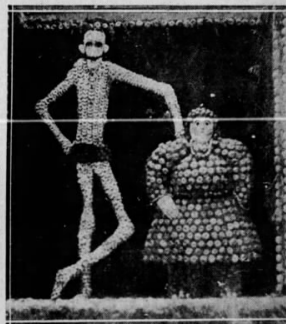

NEW "BERNHARDT"

Miss Len. Lorraine has come to the fore in Vienna on both stage and screen in tragedy parts. She is shown here registering sorrow.

BUSHELS OF GRASSHOPPERS

Great damage has been done in the West by insects. This pile of dead grasshoppers shows the success of the fight waged by J. O. V. Wins, who operates a farm near Lafayette, Colorado. Corn and wheat fields have been ravaged by the pests.

APPLE SIDE SHOW FREAKS

Here are the skeleton man and fat lady, done in apples, at the annual Gravenstein Show, at Sebastopol, California. They attracted much interest. Other exhibits resembled characters seen in the evening amusements.