Phils' Six-run Lead Fades as Cards Hammer 25 Hits to Win, 18-13; Ace Lefthander of Athletics' Staff to Receive High Baseball Honor

BOTTOMLEY SWATS 2; SHOTTON HOPES FADE

Phils Drop Fifth in Row, Losing Big Lead, as Five Hurlers Fail to Check Missouri Menace

By STAN BAUMGARTNER

The market is going up. The Phillies are going down!

Sell Shotton Pennant, preferred, short!

For the third time in a row against the Cardinals and the fifth time in five games, the Rochmen kicked away a substantial early advantage to wallow in the mire of ultimate defeat.

Yesterday they jumped into an 8-2 lead over the World's Champions only to suffer the agonizing of an 18-13 setback when the final chapter was counted.

"Pitchers Wanted"—That is the sign that Burt Shotton should hang out on the clubhouse window this morning. Five of them, Holley, Berly, J. Elliott, H. Elliott and Dudley, went to the mound against the Birdmen and not one was able to stop the vicious hitting of the visitors.

Cards Slam 25 Hits

Twenty-five safeties rang off the bats of the Red Birds, including four home runs and that is pretty good clubbing even in the pinkstawney circuit.

Shotton's men did a little slugging in their own right, spanking two Cardinal pitchers, Derringer and Carleton, for 18 singles before Dizzy Dean stepped to the mound for the second successive days and stopped them in their tracks.

From start to finish it was one of those old-fashioned slugging bees with the fans hoping it would be over before Kate Smith brought the noon over the mountain.

The Cards' ticked Holley for two runs in the first frame, but the Phillies came back to put the tilt apparently on ice with a big eight run outburst in the second that drove Lerrigner from the tee and brought in Carleton.

This sally only infuriated the Cardinals, for they tagged Holley for five more runs in the third to pull up to within one run of the Phils.

Berly Battered

When they continued their attack in the next frame Holley got the hook and Berly came in. The newspaper performed valiantly in this stanza blanking the Red Birds after Holley had permitted men to reach second and third with none out.

In the next stanza he fell apart, however, and before H. Elliott got the side out six more Cardinal runs had crossed the plate. After this they added a run here and there until they reached their total of 18.

Home runs were plentiful, Bottomley getting two, J. Collins and Carleton one each. Carleton's circuit clout was really the turning point of the ball game, for it came in the third inning with two out, two on base and the Red Birds four runs in the rear.

The big pitcher also contributed the single in the next stanza that sent the tying counter over the plate. Bottomley's two round trippers came in the eighth and ninth innings. J. Collins hit his four-bagger in the eighth.

Shotton's men never gave up. They kept pounding away and finally chased Carleton from the mound in the eighth. Dean then waltzed to the mound and the fun ceased.

Help! Help!

GREEN VALLEY PRO LANDS PHILA. OPEN BY STROKE MARGIN

George Griffin Shatters Tournament Mark With 291; Ed Dudley Second

A native son came into his own out at the Paxon Hollow Golf Club yesterday, when George Griffin, veteran professional at the Green Valley Country Club, walked off with the Philadelphia Open championship after a grueling 72-hole vigil at the altar of the Goddess of the Greens and Fairways.

The long-hitting Irishman from Germantown did the job right. His four-round aggregate of 291 set up a new 72-hole record for the thirty-two mid event. The former mark of 292 was held jointly by Tommy Armour, of Detroit, Johnny Farrell, of New York, and Emmett French, of Southern Pines, North Carolina.

In winning, Griffin became the first native-born Philadelphian to take the title since Charley Hoffner, then at Philmont, captured the championship at Merion in 1925. The only other home-bred to annex the crown was Jack McDermott, who topped the list in both 1911 and 1913. McDermott also tied for the title in 1912, but lost to Gil Nichols in a play-off.

The list of winners in this banner event is a virtual honor roll of professional golf in the United States, including, as it does, the names of several former open champions of this country, Britain, Canada and Australia. Griffin's winning tally shaded the efforts of four former titlists who took part in this year's tournament.

Dudley Finishes Second

Ed Dudley, one-time United States Ryder Cup team star from the Concord Country Club, the 1928 champion, finished one stroke behind Griffin in second place with 292. Clarence Hackney, of the Country Club of Atlantic City, defending the title he won in 1923 and 1930 as well as last year, was deadlocked for third place with Joe Kirkwood, trick-shot artist from Glenside, the 1924 champion. Hackney and Kirkwood each had 293.

Hoffner, the other former winner, was tied for ninth position with an even 300.

Gene Tiner, who is now connected with the Ocean City Golf Club, N. J., and into the last prize money offered. Others who made the trip to Paxon Hollow pay dividends were: George Smith, of Moorestown, N. J., who copped fifth place with 294; John Moyer, of Shamokin, and Willie Klein, of Ridley Park, Ed Gintner, of Newark, Del., and Bill Green, of Mt. Davids, tied for seventh with 299, and Mike Brezinski, of the Philadelphia Country Club; Joe Carlucci, of Commonwealth, and Hoffner all knotted for ninth place, with 300.

Griffin gained his edge on Dudley in the afternoon round when he clipped a stroke from par with a 71, while Ed was taking a 72. Griffin and Dudley had led the parade at the 36-hole mark with 144 each. Griffin's card read: 36-35—71—144. Dudley's: 36-36—72—144.

Five hundred boys from the various recreation centres were the guests of the Phil management during the day. They cheered for a fifteen run, but Chuck did not have one up his sleeve.

Hackney Threatens

The Atlantic City ace's brilliant effort placed him within two shots of Griffin at the fifty-four hole mark, and gave him a good chance to repeat his victories of 1930 and 1931.

Smith, who clicked off a glittering 69 on his second trip on Monday to stay up with the leaders, took a 74 yesterday morning and was still very much in the fight, but Mike Brezinski's 74, while Kirkwood came back after a poor first day to post a 71 and get into position to overtake the leaders. Renaghan and Ginther slipped somewhat to land with Kirkwood at 222, seven strokes behind Griffin. The finish of the tournament developed into a many-cornered affair, with all of the leaders except Kirkwood seemingly intent upon eliminating themselves from consideration on the last few holes.

Hackney reported with a 76 for the final try, a rather sorry letdown after his 68 of the morning and held temporary possession of third place with 295. Griffin then came sailing along headed for a 70 and a 289 total, when he muffed up the last two holes by going one over par on each and taking a 76 for his 291.

Close Finish

Dudley, playing with Kirkwood, was in great shape until he reached the 16th tee, at which point he needed five pars for a 72 and a 288 total. Ed then followed the popular craze by going four over regulation figures on the last five holes for a 76 and his 292 aggregate. Kirkwood tried hard to overcome the seven stroke lead Griffin sported at the three-quarter mark, but even another sub-par 71 couldn't do the trick. A penalty stroke on the last hole cost Joe a tie with Dudley for second money at 292.

Smith couldn't make the grade and took a 75, while Ginther needed a 76 and Moyer went soaring to a 78. Renaghan, captain of the cadet team at the Country Club, also took a 78, to put himself out of the running for the title.

BOSTON HANDS BUCS 10TH DEFEAT, 4-0

Pittsburgh Continues to Fall as Betts Hangs Up 12th Hill Victory

BOSTON, Aug. 9.—The Braves defeated the Pittsburgh Pirates this afternoon, whitewashing them by the score of 4 to 0. It was the league leaders tenth consecutive defeat.

Huck Betts was the Braves pitcher, pitching a fine game, allowing the Pirates but four scattered hits and only one visitor saw third base.

It was Betts' twelfth victory of the season. Ray Kremer started for the Pirates. He was hit hard in the second inning when three hits and a base on balls scored three runs. He was relieved by Harris who had the Braves baffled, allowing but one hit until the eighth when he gave way to a pinch hitter Spencer finished the game and he was nicked for two hits and a run in the eighth.

New York Slips in Final Frame and Cubs Step Out to Grab Victory

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—The Giants came a cropper in the ninth inning today and lost to the Cubs, 4 to 3. Bud Tinning taking a decision over Carl Hubbell. The victory put the Cubs within a half game of the fading Pirates.

In the ninth inning, with the score 3 to 2 in the Giants' favor, Hack on second base and two out, Herman hit to Terry. Terry could have made the play unassisted, but tossed to Hubbell when the pitcher moved over to cover the bag and Hubbell dropped the ball. Hack scored with O'Farrell racing up the play at first base. Thus Hack scored with the tieing run and Herman reached second. Woody English followed with a single to left and Herman scored with the winning run.

It was the last half of the inning—Tinning having been taken out for a pinch hitter—Rob Smith came in and held the Giants off, clinching the victory.

BROOKLYN, Aug. 9.—Harvey Hendrick's single in the tenth inning with the bases filled was what enabled the Reds to beat the Dodgers, 9 to 8, in a slugging match at Ebbets Field this afternoon.

The Reds used five pitchers and the Dodgers four in the battle. Hendrick's hit came off Watt Luscher.

MISS CROZER GAINS UPSET TRIUMPH IN VENTNOR NET PLAY

Phila. Cricket Club Lass Defeats Esther Daly; Berman, Villanova, Wins

By DORA LURIE

VENTNOR, N. J., Aug. 9.—Adaire Crozer, attractive 19-year-old Philadelphia Cricket Club lass, skilled as an aviatrix and tennienne, came into her own in tennis this afternoon when she upset Esther Daly, Merion Cricket Club seeded fifth, in the Middle States clay courts women's championship tourney.

Miss Crozer, after dropping the initial frame, rallied to win the next two, 6-3, 6-3, and reached the quarter-final round on the Ventnor Municipal Courts, home of the district event, which also includes boys' girls' and boys' 16-and-under.

There is a little secret behind the sudden rise of Adaire to tennis heights. Clifford Sutter, Tulane national intercollegiate champion and fifth nationally ranked player, witnessed Miss Crozer perform at the Wilmington Country Club several weeks ago. The New Orleans flash recognized that the Quaker City maid had promising net ability and encouraged her to take up the sport seriously.

Miss Crozer profited considerably as a result of daily practice with Sutter, strengthening her forehand and building up a volleying attack, one of Sutter's finest weapons. Adaire displayed strong driving power, running off with the second set love, against Miss Daly, Merion southpaw and last year's runner-up in the shore play.

The St. Martins' representative will face Mrs. Clarence Thayer, Idle Hour Club, tomorrow. If Miss Crozer continues to show such marked improvement she will, in all probability, team with Clifford Sutter next week at Newport for the invitation mixed doubles, a high spot in the New England resort's net calendar.

Sol Berman, Villanova College net captain, seeded fourth, landed a sterling victory over Sylvan Fox, University of Maryland's Number one player. Berman won in straight sets, the scores being 6-4, 6-1. Bob Kline, Penn State ace, was the first to gain the quarter final round in the men's play.
