A CHAIR FLIES instead of a basketball during a melee between the United States and Taiwan in the Malaysian International Tournament in Kuala Lumpur. Michael Brown of the United States ducked a chair thrown by Liu Hwa-Lin of Taiwan after fighting broke out last night with the U.S. leading, 117-76. At least three Taiwanese were slightly injured.

Voted in, staying out

Cheney "Conkie" Glickner, often the center of controversy when he played football in the Canadian Football League during the 1960s, has not had his last touch for the CFL. Glickner was named to the CFL's Hall of Fame on Monday, but he told league officials that he was not interested in being a member.

Riotous act

The San Francisco 49ers needed a joker to relieve the good humor of their 1981 Super Bowl season, and Wendell Tyler, who arrived this year from the Los Angeles Rams, may be their man.

Quotable

Alan Page, former NFL star, on NFL commissioner Pete Rozelle's suspension of four players for violating league drug policies: "I over they were going to turn around the problem by having players come forth, they just turned off the light. There it goes, right into the closet. If they suspended every body who tried cocaine at least once, they wouldn't have enough players to continue the league."
